Languages on CABOLO® Explained

CABOLO® supports speech processing in over 40 languages. When quoting CABOLO® solutions, it is important to distinguish between transcription and translation and the desired output:

Transcription: Converting spoken language into written text in the same language, for example speaking in English and producing an English text output.

Translation: Converting the transcribed text into another language, for example speaking in English and producing an Italian text output.

ATTENTION: CABOLO® can perform both of these activities in real time or at post processing but will not act as an interpreter or give a translated language output.

Each solution and version in this catalogue is supplied with 1 transcription language of your choice. Any project requiring configuration including additional languages for transcription or both transcription and translation, will be assessed and quoted on an ad hoc basis.
